

Students Against Destructive Decisions

SADD stands for Students Against Destructive Decisions. It is the nations premiere youth peer-to-peer education program, with over 25,000 chapters nationwide. The students of SADD educate their peers, parents and communities on these issues and how the ripple effect is felt amongst them all. SADD utilizes the power of young people to influence the decisions of their peers Students are educated on how to use various prevention and intervention tools when dealing with their fellow teens who may need help with the many complicated issues they face.
